Pentecost Week 23, Year C
Ordinary Time Week 33

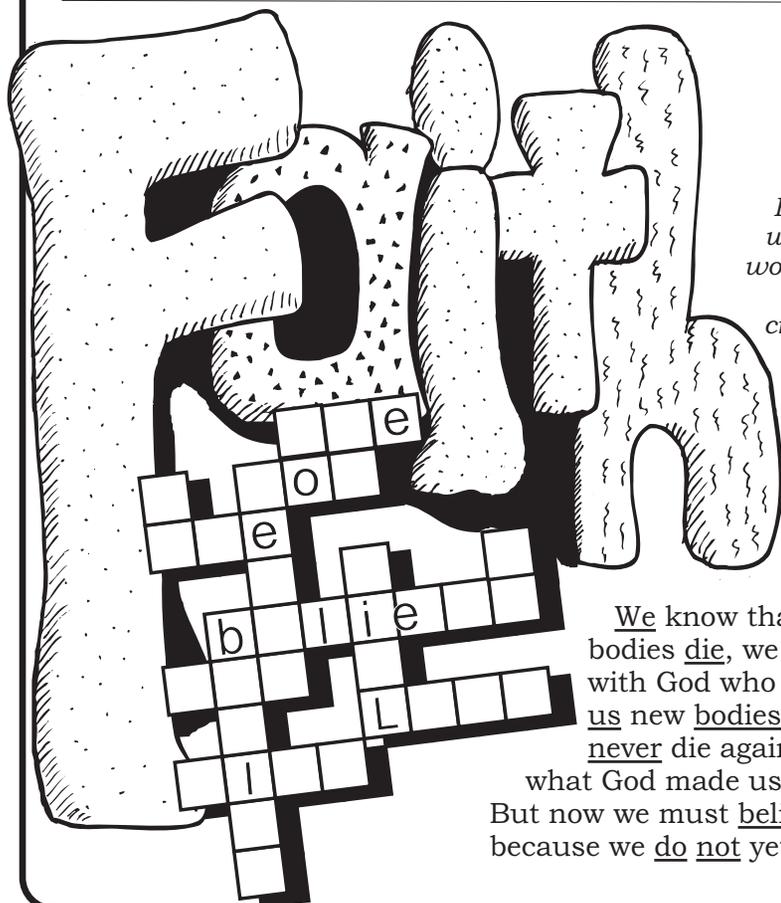

Mark 4:26-34

November 13, 2022

Note: This is a substitute issue due to the nature of today's lectionary readings.

Fit all the underlined words, below, into the crossword.

We know that if our bodies die, we will live with God who will give us new bodies that will never die again. This is what God made us for. But now we must believe this because we do not yet see it.

This seed is quite small, but it can grow into something much bigger and more beautiful.

You are like a seed. You have a lot of growing to do, and yet all along God will help you to grow strong in love, wisdom, and character (your moral strength and will to make good choices). You will learn as you grow what kind of seed you are and what kind of things God made you for.

Draw a shining sun. Draw roots and make the seed grow.
